Not a chatbot. A co-worker.

An AI co-worker is a named digital colleague with a defined role. It takes on repetitive, high-volume work inside the systems you already run, and hands anything that needs judgment to the right person.

01

Has a role

Each one owns a defined job, with clear results to answer for.

02

Works in your tools

Joins the email, chat and business systems you already use.

03

Answers to your people

Follows your rules and hands over when a person is needed.

TODAY, HOURS GO ON

- Re-keying data between systems
- Chasing payments and approvals
- Checking only a small sample
- Answering the same questions

WITH AI CO-WORKERS

- Reviewing exceptions and deciding
- Talking with customers
- Full coverage, not samples
- Advice, relationships and growth

Delivered by people who know your work

Every deployment is led by Kydon's FDOs: specialists who work alongside your team, fit each co-worker to how you work, and keep improving it after go-live.

What it looks like in practice

CUSTOMER · RINA AND ETHAN

A three-clinic dental group

BEFORE

Front desks were swamped at peak hours. Half of all patient messages arrived after closing, and callers gave up on hold.

WITH AI CO-WORKERS

Every call is answered and booked, day or night. Messages are answered in the patient's language, and urgent cases go straight to the clinic.

40%
more bookings captured

95%
shorter wait times

80%
fewer missed after-hours calls

More appointments with the same front-desk team, and staff free to care for patients.

FINANCE · FARAH

A 40-person distributor

BEFORE

Two finance staff spent the first week of every month reconciling about 900 transactions and chasing late payers.

WITH AI CO-WORKERS

Invoices go out in seconds and accounts are reconciled overnight. At month-end, the team clears a short exception list in one sitting.

1.5 days
to close the month, down from 4

22h → 6h
monthly reconciliation effort

Up to 30%
faster payment cycles

The first week of the month now goes on cash planning and customers, not matching.

Built to be trusted

Co-workers take on the volume. Your people keep the judgment. Every deployment is set up around six commitments.

You stay in control

You decide what a co-worker may do alone. Nothing is sent, posted or paid outside the categories you approve.

Honest about being AI

Co-workers introduce themselves as virtual assistants, and customers can ask for a person at any time.

No guessing

They answer only from content you approve. When unsure, they hand over to your team instead.

Every action on record

A full audit trail of what was done, when and why, ready for managers and auditors.

Your data stays yours

Access only to the systems you approve, read-only wherever possible.

People make the calls

Judgment calls, approvals and anything sensitive always go to a named person.

GOVERNANCE

Our deployments follow internationally recognised principles for responsible AI and the national AI guidance of each market we serve. Personal data is handled under the data protection law that applies to you.

Start small. Prove it. Then grow.

Most organisations begin with one co-worker on one workflow. First co-workers typically go live within weeks.

1

Assessment

We sit with your team, map how the work really gets done and identify where an AI co-worker will pay back first.

2

Pilot

One co-worker on one workflow, run side by side with your current process until you trust the results.

3

Go live and grow

Switch over, then add skills and co-workers. Kydon monitors and maintains every co-worker and trains your team to manage day-to-day changes.

Book your AI workforce assessment

We map your workflows, find where a co-worker pays back fastest and show you what a pilot would deliver.
